

WELLESLEY IS MENACED BY FOREST FIRE

While Wellesley police officers were investigating two fires which started about midnight near Wellesley College and which are believed to have been of incendiary origin, thousands of men in various other parts of the State were battling a spread of flames that burned thousands of acres of woodland.

Three houses were destroyed in Weymouth. In the vicinity of West Kennebunkport, Me., 5,000 acres were burned, and two houses were wiped out. Severe fires were reported near Attleboro, while a series of fire on the Cape threatened buildings in Hyannis and Barnstable.

Other fires swept over the mountains near Holyoke, 200 acres of land near Cohasset were burned over, and more fires were reported from Brockton and Northampton.

GIRLS FIGHT FLAMES.

of Spring Grove, on the outskirts of Wellesley. Their work enabled the men to save a large dance hall from destruction. Conditions in Weymouth were equally bad.

Fire departments from five towns were sent hurrying to the scene when the blaze made its way through that section of South Weymouth that surrounds Great Pond. So close was the fire to the built-up section of the town that the firemen made no attempt whatever to halt its progress.

The chief concern of the firemen was concerned only in preventing it from destroying the homes that lay in its path.

WELLESLEY CALLS FOR AID.

Fire departments were called to the aid of the Wellesley apparatus from Natick, Newton, Waltham, Watertown, Weston and other Forest fires continue to sweep Worcester County towns and look-outs on Fay Mountain in Westboro and Mt. Wachusett in Princeton are proving their worth in sending alarms. It is estimated that losses through forest fires in the past few days will total $75,000 in Worcester County. Several barns have been burned.

About $8,000 worth of cut lumber was destroyed in Barre. Permits for fires all over the county have been revoked.

POUNDER REFUSES LEGAL CHILD OF BIGAMIST ORPHAN

POUNDER REFUSES LEGAL CHILD OF BIGAMIST ORPHAN

Brooklyn Woman Opposes Plan of Daughter to Adopt Detroit Girl's Baby

By GEORGE DESCHAMPS

"My son-in-law's illegal child will never enter under my roof."

With determination grown out of outraged pride emphasizing every word, Mrs. Minnie Stevens, mother of Mrs. William G. Orin, wife of the self-confessed bigamist, made a declaration that put further difficulty in the path of the loyal wife who would adopt the child of her husband's illegal second marriage.

While her daughter pleaded today in Municipal Court in Detroit that she be permitted to adopt her wayward husband's child so that his sentence might be mitigated, Mrs. Stevens made it clear that "blood is thicker than water" and that only the three little Orin children, who are her own flesh and blood, will be tolerated.

MARRIED LIFE HAPPY.

Mrs. Stevens has been caring for the Orin children for some time. The family had made their home with her for the last year since their departure from Detroit. At the Stevens home on Pleasant street, Brooklyn, where Florence Stevens spent her girlhood and where life was wooded and won by Orin, Mrs. Stevens told of the happy married life of the young couple. Three children were born to them.

While her manner voiced her disapproval of her son-in-law more forcibly than words, Mrs. Stevens admitted that young Orin had been "nice maintained, quiet and rather well-liked."

SUSPICIONS NOT AROUSED.

"On the whole, we had no cause to suspect that there was any other woman in his life until we heard the other day of Miss Nichols," she continued. After confessing that he had illegally married Miss Nichols, she said in Detroit, Orin pleaded that he had done so to give Miss Nichols a child's home. It was only after a trip to Brooklyn that Miss Nichols learned that Orin was married.

Through her disclosures to the police, Orin was arrested.

He had thought of the possibility of Florence adopting the child before she went to the trial, but I did not speak my thoughts lest my daughter sleep upon the idea.

SPURNS "OTHER CHILD."

"If William Orin receives a prison sentence, I will take my daughter's three children, but the other child—never!"

"This girl is not woman enough to mother her own child, I certainly am not going to."

"I think my stand about a baby can be appreciated. There is Christianity, kindness, and good courses, but I have done all that I possibly could to help in this case."

"There is no use in saying that the woman is all to blame because she is not a woman. I am a woman and I am not a woman."

Neighbors said they saw two women, one of whom was a woman for everything that befalls a man, but would not take a man. Mrs. Stevens declared that she would not attempt to let her daughter what to do in the matter of adopting Miss Nichols' baby, but she made it very clear that the child would never be recognized by her.

"Some other arrangement will have to be made if my daughter carries out her plan. I can not have that child here," she concluded.

Won $500,000 Rolling Bones and Then Died in Poverty

San Bernardino, Cal., May 2.—

Low Friedman is dead by his own hand—the hand that rolled "seven" and "eleven" for nearly half a million dollars in the last year of his life.

Friedman cheated for the first time in his life, his friends say, when he beat the spectre of tuberculosis by shooting himself.

He died penniless.

A year ago he came back from Cuba with $20,000 he won at dice in a few weeks, but he gave it away in short time to youngsters in the streets from New York to San Francisco.

ROMANCE BARED

LIFE OF N. F. FLEISCHMANN

New York, May 2.—A long chapter of romance in the life of William N. Fleischmann, millionaire turf plunger, was brought to light today, when it became known that he was married six years ago and divorced four years later.

The hidden fact was revealed by his brother, Paul Fleischmann, head of the Fleischmann Vint Company, who said the marriage was contracted with Viola Trent, an actress.

The announcement was made complete by a called report from Vienna that Fleischmann had been completely cured of paralysis as the result of an unusual operation.

Mr. Fleischmann has been suffering from paralysis since 1914, when his right leg was affected. A score of specialists who examined him were all of the opinion that the ailment had resulted from the affection of a nerve center which he injured when he accidentally shot himself when a boy.

Mr. Fleischmann feared he would be a permanent cripple, and he went to Vienna to consult eminent specialists. Recently he wrote to his brother that he found the surgeon whom he hoped would cure him.

That his hopes were realized was stated in the cable report today saying the operation had been a complete success. He expects to start back to America May 15.

Two men slain in "Gang" battle

Philadelphia, May 2.—Two men were shot and killed in a street battle today in what police believe was an underworld feud.

Harry Blinn, who died in a hospital from three bullet wounds, was said to have killed "Burr" Baker, a pistol duelist. Baker was shot five times. Slinger said they had quarreled over a woman.

Another version was given by Hyman Gold, arrested after the shooting. He said Blinn and Baker were shot by six men who began firing wildly in the middle.

Neighbors said they saw two women, one of whom was a woman for everything that befalls a man, but would not take a man. Mrs. Stevens declared that she would not attempt to let her daughter what to do in the matter of adopting Miss Nichols' baby, but she made it very clear that the child would never be recognized by her.

The explosion occurred while the train was passing through a tunnel. The locomotive was blown to pieces by an explosion at Fairport. Two cars following the engine buckled and were destroyed by fire.

The dead are Timothy Conway, engineer, Connetquot, N. Y.; Newman, fireman, Connetquot, N. Y.; and the explosion occurred while the train was passing through a tunnel.

NEW POSE OF ACTRESS IN LOVE TRAGEDY

John Corkhill, Lodge Leader, A Suicide

Pittsfield, May 2.—John Corkhill, 39, years old, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Massachusetts, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head at his home here today.

He had been a Republican candidate for Mayor of Pittsfield, and had served as alderman and common councilman.

For many years he served as president of the Pittsfield Veterans' Association and was prominent at Connecticut Valley matters. For forty years Mr. Corkhill was in business in this city and business reverses are believed to have been a factor in the tragedy.

JOHN CORKHILL, LODGE LEADER, A SUICIDE

Parolman Smith detected two men in the act of driving off with a 1920 car parked in West One Hundredth and Seventh streets, where they found the securities, pistols and ammunition.

Among the securities found in a building, which was owned by the Boston Building Trust, were $25,000 in gold debenture bonds of the North Atlantic Land Company, $12,500 in first mortgage bonds of the Boston Realty Company, and $25,000 in miscellaneous stock.

The "seven safe robbery" was entered by a master locksmith with the aid of a sweetheart, who obtained a woman as a stenographer in the building.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

By ALFRED STEPHEN BRYAN

Where Do Fashions Come From?

New York, May 2.—Old as Cheops and recurrent as human curiosity is the question, "Who sets the fashions for men?" Are they determined by some unaccountable clique sitting in ceremonial conclave behind drawn blinds and stopped-up keyholes? Are they put forth by manufacturers or retailers, clothiers or tailors? Or, plucked out of the air, do they "just happen?"

Men's fashions are really set by that person whose statisticians delight to term the "ultimate consumer." He may be a university man or merely a well-dressed man, who has his own ideas about fashion and the knack of enforcing them. He may be a traveler who has just crossed from Europe, and who in London or Paris has chanced upon the lay of a lapel or the curve of a collar or the placing of a button which impressed him as smart.

As a case in point, take the four-button sack, portrayed above. Golegians and the legions who take their cue from them have given this coat its wide present-day vogue, though the style had never gone out of use for the last twenty years. This coat is cut on severe, straight, slim lines, the topmost button being fastened or left unfastened, as one prefers. The lapels are broad and short. The front is just a shade rounded off. The shoulders are natural. The waistcoat may be exposed above the coat opening or concealed. The general look is one of youthful slenderness.

If You Care a Straw

Straw hats have such a short-lived season in most sections that they recall the droll rhyme, "Since I was so soon done for, what was I begun for?" Nevertheless, he who cares a straw about being well-turned out will pay as close and circumstantial heed to the choice of this hat as to his felt or silk hat.

The cardinal consideration in selecting one's straw hat is not so much fashion as becomingness to height and cast of features. In itself, no belonging of dress is smart. It derives smartness wholly from its harmonious relationship to the wearer's face and figure. The new broad-brimmed sailor or yacht straw, of the port stretched here, is a prepossessing block either in the semit (rough-weave) or split (fine-weave) braid. The generality of young men are more indulgent to the semit straw, possibly because it has a rugged, "just-as-it-came-from-the-country" air about it which savors of complete informality. Contrarywise, the split straw is more favored by older men and, in addition, it pairs off notably well with the dinner ("tuxedo") jacket which prescribes the tie, not the dress hat.

Springfield, May 2.—A prospect of a happy, simple life with Mrs. Morrill and "our babies," was drawn by Douglas B. Carter, named with Beth K. Chase as co-respondent in the divorce suit brought by Leon G. Morrill, wealthy bricklayer of Springfield. In a letter he wrote to Mrs. Morrill while he was in San Francisco.

Unfortunately Carter said the letter was intercepted by Morrill and its contents furnished sensational news in the trial of the divorce suit was assumed before Judge Nelson Brown in this city, where it was transferred from Dublin.

The letter written by Carter was not introduced in evidence as a whole, but Attorney Frank W. Knowlton picked out extracts here and there and compelled Carter to admit writing them.

In the note Carter characterized his married life with Morrill as "a life of constant, furious, sensations when the trial of the divorce suit was assumed before Judge Nelson Brown in this city, where it was transferred from Dublin."

Carter explained that the simple life with "our babies" was merely a just way of describing the young son of Mrs. Morrill and his own little daughter.

KISSES AND SMOKING.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Knowlton Carter testified that he was neither a "fresh hunter" nor a "young lion."

Referring to the evening Carter spent with the Morrill apartment in 1915, Attorney Knowlton asked: "Q—You did not begin to like her until after her husband requested you to see her of her? A—Very possibly."

Q—Did you sleep with your doors open that night? A—Yes, I always did. Carter said that he did not recall one single instance that transpired during the sixteen hours that he and Mrs. Morrill were alone. A—Absolutely nothing.

Q—And the next day your wife left you and never came back? A—No.

Carter was shown a copy of the divorce libel against his wife in which he charged her with desertion on July 10, 1915. "Was that the time she left you?" he was asked. "On or about that time within a week or ten days," he replied.

When Carter took the stand at the opening of the court he denied, under direct examination by Attorney Thomas Proctor, that he had ever been guilty of any improper relations with Mrs. Morrill.

HYDE PARK YOUTH RUN OVER BY TRAIN

Too great haste in an attempt to catch a train will probably cost nineteen-year-old Bernard Chibotti of No. 48 Water street, Hyde Park, his left foot. Young Chibotti went to the Hyde Park station to get a train for Boston. The train was leaving when he arrived, and as he tried to board it he slipped and his foot went between the wheels.

Why Be "Skinny"

When It's So EASY to Increase Your Weight This New Way

New Scientific Process Embodied in IRONIZED YEAST Enables Many Thin, Nervous, Run-down Folks to Gain 5 to 9 Pounds on First Package

No matter how thin you may be—no matter how long you have been trying to put on weight—no matter how many different preparations you may have tried without results—owe it to yourself to learn of the real benefits that IRONIZED YEAST holds for you. For thin folks to gain five to nine pounds on the very first package is not at all unusual. Ripples and other humiliating skin eruptions usually completely disappear within 14 days. And as for creating new energy, seeming miracles are reported by people who were once nervous, weak and run-down. And all because IRONIZED YEAST embodies an amazing process—a process which enables yeast to bring its wonderful results often to just half the usual time!

What Is The Secret?

While science admits that yeast alone is good, experiments prove that it is not enough, in itself, to bring 100% results. For although yeast contains certain mysterious elements which have a wonderful effect on our health, it needs some other agent in order to quickly convert these vital elements into rich, firm flesh and rugged strength.

Iron, Science tells us, is of high value in changing the food we eat into living cell-tissues. So we eat on this point, and chemists finally discovered the amazing process of ironization. It is this process which enables yeast to derive from yeast ALL of the splendid benefits it holds for you.

Superior—Therefore Imitated

Yeast-eaters are constantly being cheap inferior imitations of IRONIZED YEAST, which in most cases are merely mixtures of ordinary yeast and iron. The real secret of the process of ironization is embodied only in IRONIZED YEAST, because scientifically correct yeast treatment. Always insist upon the genuine IRONIZED YEAST. It is the only way you can be sure of getting the best.

TWO GENERALS DIE IN BATTLE NEAR PEKING

Washington, May 2.—With Peking again a beleaguered city, the United States is continuing to rush reinforcements to the Legation guard there. The ships now engaged in forwarding materiel are the New Orleans and the Albany, which were stationed at Vladivostok, and the Ruro, which left Cavite, in the Philippines.

Peking, May 2 (By the Associated Press).—Yu Pei-yu's drive for Peking has been vigorously resumed in the vicinity of Changchun, 112 miles south of the capital, the Chihlites attacking gallantly and striving to turn both of the enemy's flanks.

It is reported General Tung Cheng-Kin of the Chihlites forces and General Lian Chou-Tung of the Fengtieners were killed. The Fengtieners, under Chang Tzu-Lin at first were handicapped by a shortage of ammunition, but staved off the attacks until supplies were brought up from Peking. The Chihlites eventually retired to Lulin, 15 miles to the southwest.

The casualties of the Fengtieners were severe and the Changchun station is filled with wounded. There has also been brief fighting in the Hun River, 40 miles south of the capital. The Chihlites drive General Chang Tzu-Lin's forces from the town.

CHARLEINE, a small Paris house making only clothes of jersey, uses that fabric in henna color to make a tulle, whose only trimming is self fabricised with stripes of black jersey. THE tulle that promotes through the late spring is here, of pale rose perline bound, with silk braid of matching color. Straps that extend at the wrists, a narrow white kid belt buckled in pink pearl and a novel pocket effect are notable details of the costume from Georgetown.

BARBOUT QUILTS GENERAL FOR PARIS

By the Associated Press.

Genoa, May 2.—Vim Premier Barbout, head of the French delegation at the economic conference, left for Paris today for a conference with President Poincare and the Cabinet. He is expected back Sunday or Monday. Before leaving he conferred with Lloyd George.

Lloyd George, it is understood, impressed again upon his colleagues his view of the desirability that a meeting of the plenipotentiaries of the treaty of Versailles be held at the earliest possible moment in some Mediterranean town.

M. Barbout's reported decision not to return before the end of the week, was in view of the status of the Russian negotiations, it was said, as the Russian reply to the memorandum the allies will present is not expected before Monday next.

The most important question to be discussed by Mr. Barbout and his chief, it is understood, is that of France's attitude on the non-aggression pact proposed by the British Prime Minister.

Whether M. Poincare will consent to a meeting of the plenipotentiaries of the Treaty of Versailles to discuss German reparations before May 21 is another subject for the parties in Paris. Frenchmen here believe it unlikely that M. Poincare would agree to talk reparations at Genoa.

The sub-committee on Russian affairs, formed to meet this afternoon for final approval of the memorandum to the Russians. The document provides for establishment of a mixed arbitral commission for controlling the debts owed to holders of Russian government bonds, the chairman of which would be named by Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

ONLY ONE CHILD BENEFITS BY CROKER WILL

By HAYDEN TALBOT

Universal Service Special Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1922, by Universal Service.)
London, May 2.—Only one of his children will be found to benefit by the will of Richard Croker and that one is a daughter who is now living in England.

I am able to state this with certainty, because my intimacy with the house, begun in the early years of the century, and renewed at Sir Morgan this Spring, caused my being taken into his confidence on many matters.

His two sons and the daughter now in America are excluded from all legation as a consequence of their attitude in litigation of the past two years. As a consequence of this litigation Croker retained his resentment against his children to the end of his days and made no secret of the fact that he considered that the only one of his children who had treated him fairly was his English daughter.

He carried his resentment toward them to the extent of enjoining his wife not to send any announcement of his death to his children in America.

I am also able to state positively that no faction or leader in Ireland will benefit under the Croker will. All of my information in this connection was obtained by me on a visit to the Croker home several months ago immediately after the widespread rumors that Mr. Croker was dying.

The differential rates must be overcome before Boston can regain its prestige as a port," declared William Stewart, Boston agent for the Cunard line. He also suggested one big terminal for railroads and shipping centres.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY Spring Meet of United Hunts Association Today

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE Spring meet of the United Hunts Association, which opens today at the Belmont Park Terminal in New York, is arousing considerable interest among society's sporting contingent. The Terminal, which is situated on Long Island, is one of the most picturesque race courses in the country, and the meet held there have none of the appearance of the great races held later on, so that the course, with its splendid surroundings, has much the appearance of one on a private estate.

Notwithstanding the fact that the meet is set so early in the week—such meets are usually held on Saturday—these in charge have been assured of a good attendance, and numerous luncheon parties have been planned to take place at the Turf and Field Club, as well as at country places in the vicinity.

I note that Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., of Fride's Crossing, is a member of the committee in charge, along with such prominent sportsmen as F. Ambrose Clark, Richard H. Williams, Jr., S. Bryce Wing, R. Pen Smith, Jr., F. Skiddy von Stade, A. Filmore Hyde and Rufus C. Finch.

Appropos of Bayard Tuckerman, it will be recalled that this enthusiastic young sportsman is of the steadily-increasing coterie of New York men capturing Boston girls. It was about seven years ago that society folk of Boston and Gotham received invitations to attend the wedding of Miss Phyllis Sears, youngest daughter of Herbert M. Sears of Commonwealth avenue, and young Tuckerman, who received his degree from Harvard in 1915. The ceremonial, which took place at St. John's Church, Beverly Farms, was, needless to say, one of the very smartest of its season.

Ever, since their marriage, the former New Yorker, who holds membership in Boston's most exclusive club, and his attractive young wife have been among the most devoted worshippers at the shrine of sport along the North Shore, where no sporting event seems complete without their participation.

MRS. ANNA HAMLIN, who came to Boston from Washington to serve as bridesmaid on Saturday at the wedding of Miss Rosanna Fiske and Lloyd B. Sanderson, Jr., is one of the younger members of the committee which, with Mrs. Judah Sears as chairman, is working for the success of Washington's second debutante ball. This affair, which had its inception in the first debutante ball given recently in aid of the Washington Memorial, will take place on the evening of May 12, and is to be called the "Victory Ball."

On the same committee with Mrs. Sears and Miss Hamlin are Miss Gladys Hinkley, Miss Cornelia Vander-

MRS. CHARLES P. GREENOUGH, 2D

The name of Mrs. Charles P. Greenough, 2nd, has been included on the patroness lists for a goodly portion of the charity functions given by the smart set. Mrs. Greenough has been especially prominent in the weekly assemblies held by the Hundred Club, the last meeting of which was held last week.

Bill and Princess Bertha Cusack, sister-in-law of the former Clarissa Curtis of Boston. Appropos of Miss Hamlin and social activities at the capital, I note that her parents, the Charles Sumner Hamlin, are of the fashionable group who have taken boxes for the Capital City Horse Show, which will be held on May 12, just across the Potomac in Virginia. The Larz Andersons, too, are among the bidders for the show. Fashionable patronage for the latter was assured some time ago, and practically the entire smart set of the capital, which includes a number of Bostonians, is planning to turn out for the occasion.

NOW that long reluctant buds are just beginning to burst into bloom, and the countryside seems less barren and more "Springy" every day, the Berkshire resorts are coming to life. The Lenox Club, around which revolves much of the social life of Lenox, and which is a familiar spot to many Bostonians, was opened yesterday. The clubhouse has been redecorated throughout, with many new furnishings to lighten the attraction of the interior. From the main dining room French doors now open out on the spacious verandas, which make a popular rendezvous for tea and luncheon parties. The clubhouse, which is reached from Yoken avenue by a winding drive between rows of great pines and elms, has an ideal setting in the midst of the beautiful park that formerly was owned by the late Dr. Richard C. Greenleaf.

The Curtis Hotel at Lenox, which has been owned and managed for sixty-three years by the Curtis family, was opened last week. Also open for the season is the Harvard Inn at Stockbridge, a neighboring resort, where William Elmer Sedgwick of Harvard recently spent a few days while inspecting the Sedgwick mansion.

Other early visitors to the Berkshire regions are Mrs. George Stanley Parker and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Parker, of Monmouth street, Brookline, who passed several days at the Woodstock Hotel in Pittsfield.

CURLEY URGES UNITY TO MAKE BOSTON THE NATIONAL LEADER

ASCENDING TO A NEW PLACE IN THE SUN! A significant simplification marked the celebration of the 100th Anniversary of the Inauguration of John's City Government. The large photograph at the top, a remarkable picture, shows Mayor Curley addressing a throng of several hundred in front of City Hall after he had pulled the string which released the fireworks. Top, at right, is Mayor Curley, George W. Coleman and Charles F. Read watching exercises by the Boy Scouts. Top, at left, Mayor Curley speaking at the public exercise at Faneuil Hall. (Keystone photo.)

STICKING IT OUT! R. B. Conrad, well-known Boston merchant, leaning hard on a golf stick at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he has been sojourning for several weeks. (Keystone)

JOHN S. PARTRIDGE of Brockton, president of the International American Club, who will sail shortly for India in the interests of a large rubber company.

THE TELLERS IN THIS BUNCH DON'T HESITATE TO TELL THE WORLD THEY'RE BANKING ON A GOOD TIME IN ATLANTIC CITY. This serious looking group of men, who take in and invest your savings, are members of the Massachusetts Betting Association, photographed just before the "all aboard" yell at the South Station, bound for the Atlantic City convention. My, won't the sand cutes be pleased to see them!

THE BARBERS HAVE CHALLENGED THEM! The hirsute baseball team of the House of David, Boston Harbor, Mich., is threatening to drop in on Boston and whisk away a few titles. Whisk is right. From the latest reports the nine hasn't lost any members to the Big League. (Underwood)

JACQUES MONNICKENDAM, Dutch painter, now living in Springfield, has been called back to Holland to paint the portrait of Queen Wilhelmina. Above is Miss Peironelle L. Van Deene of West Springfield, whose portrait he is now painting.

TIP-TOEING FOR CHARITY! Miss Ruth K. Noble, 22, No. 12 Concord road, Watertown, is pleased to please the dancing. Her dancing lesson was the benefit for Boston Floating Hospital, Winthrop Club, Wednesday.

WHEN THE LADIES MAN THE FIRE TRUCK! Emma Goodwin, left, and Grace Bennett were fired with pep when one of the buildings caught fire at the New England Sanatorium, Spot Pond, Melrose. They aided employees in fighting the blaze. Damage amounted to $2,000. None of the patients was removed.

WHY MARGARET SANGER WEPT! Were we possessed of Arthur Brisbane's talent, we might write a little editorial on this splendid American family. There'd be no smug sympathy in it, for Mr. and Mrs. Carlotta Capello of Gloucester are proud of their fifteen sturdy children. The father and mother have just celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage.

THIS SCHOOL BATTLE OF GREAT INTEREST

The leading schoolboy ball game of the weeks card was played today when the undefeated Newton High team met the undefeated Waltham nine at the latter's grounds. It is a contest of considerable interest, and it will be closely watched by coaches and Waltham forced its way into the

During B.C.'s high team down to 10, Hinkley was the only player to make a surprise to the thousands that watched the game. With Eel Paulson leading for B.C.'s Hink, it looked like a big day for the Maroon and the color-coalers.

His stand in the box was short-lived. Hink was driven to the bench after a bombardment of hits in the opening inning. Waltham was the only runner in that session to win the contest.

Coach Tom Stanish of Brichmont has promised McKenney the opportunity to play for the upper level team. West Roxbury will be coached by Coach Jim Duffy of West Roxbury. A hard-fought game between the two teams over the Sept. 14-15 weekend, ran 17 to 10.

HEAVYWEIGHT PICKED HIM, SO SHEVLIN REGAINS BOXING CROWN

SHEVLIN EASY MINNER AGAINST SIGAL

By JACK CONWAY.

Eddie Shevlin whirled to a decisive victory over Nate Sigal in their second round at the Boston Arena. The New England heavyweight champion won eight rounds. The other two saw the Sigal colors on front.

It was sweet revenge for Shevlin as Sigal won a decision over him a couple of months ago.

More than 8,000 wildly cheering fans saw the battle, which was crowded with all kinds of thrills. Although defeated, Sigal was in three every second punching way like a regular champion. Shevlin was a little bit too fast and clever. Sigal, which gave a heavy discount to the Sigal boxing power.

It was also a victory for the grand old man, as Shevlin was our selection. We figured Shevlin would breeze to victory despite the fact Sigal recently conquered him.

SIGAL GETS 3 ROUNDS.

Two rounds saw Sigal out from the first and the eighth. He covered the battle much like he has in each of his previous fights with Shevlin. He whirled right in the middle of the ring and whanged away with both hands as though a king's ransom depended upon his efforts.

Shevlin shot over some stiff left jab and boxer. Sigal, however, managed to keep at long range most of the time and countered with a flick of heavy left and right hand blows to the head and body.

Once more, in the eighth chapter, the Sigal surge gained the honors for the Rovers boy. Nate was desperate, as he realized Shevlin had piled up a big point margin. He managed to keep at long range and scored with some solid wallop.

At long range Sigal seemed to have a better advantage. When the rivals were in close, Shevlin didn't seem to have much trouble crushing wallop to their mark.

SHEVLIN TAKES LEAD.

But back to the second round with all its Shevlin gear. Sigal's act led down to business and sent three left jabs in the jaw. Shevlin clinched, and shevlin had a merry time counting with short, sharp left and right hand work to the head and body.

A couple of Shevlin lefts left behind whirled off Sigal's jaw. Nate rallied a left to the body and a right to the same spot. Shevlin missed a right hand swing which would have knocked out a regiment of fighters if it had hit. Shevlin replied with a flick of left hook and jab to the jaw.

The Shevlin left hand continued its forward march in the third round. Eddie kept Nate guessing by shifting from the body to the head. And when the men were close, Sigal's boxing instructor had a field day piling up points. Sigal fought back valiantly when the opportunity presented itself, but he had tough shelling slugging through Shevlin's solid defense.

FIENE'S BOWLERS GET THE AMERICAN CUP

The award of the beautiful Boston American silver trophy to the Fiene bowlers is the last act scheduled in the Retail Store Bowling League drama for the season, and the grand finale will be staged within a few weeks at the annual banquet and theatre party of the bowlers.

The curtain will go down on the most successful season ever rolled up by Boston alone among the store employees, and the interest and enthusiasm manifested throughout the season is in a large measure due to the keen rivalry for first place in the American prize cup.

Fiene's have won twelve string of 197 victories to nine defeats with Thayer, McNeil Company and Blue-Row, Kennard Company runners up in the final round.
